*Meta-Coaching is a cutting-edge coaching methodology that transcends traditional Performance Coaching, taking both Coach and Client to higher levels— to Developmental and Transformational Coaching. That is why we call it 'meta' which means a higher level. At these higher levels profound change occurs naturally and easily. And the result is the ability to customize your desired transformation.

Meta-Coach Training is an accelerated Coach Training System that supports participants to move through learning modules, culminating in the credentials for being a Master Coach.

Meta-Coaching is taught in an environment that gives participants every opportunity to excel as an Executive, Personal (Life), Business, Group and Team, Transformational or a Self-Actualization Coach.

This comprehensive program differentiates itself from other coaching education by integrating seven models so that, as a professional Coach, you can work systematically with clients. In the training we focus on yourself as a Coach, your coaching skills for professional competency, and your coaching business so you can create a commercially viable business.

Meta-Coach Training is based on the Cognitive Sciences of Neuro-Linguistic Programming (NLP) and Neuro-Semantics (NS) as well as the Self-Actualization Psychology of Maslow and Rogers. It integrates these models into a cutting-edge approach to coaching. The training programs are rigorous and qualifications internationally recognized.

Who will benefit from Meta-Coach Training?

Meta-Coach Training has both broad and specific application. Ideally it is for:

- n New and experienced coaches who want to give their clients effective, cutting-edge coaching.
- n People passionate about transformative human growth and development
- n CEOs, entrepreneurs, managers, and sales managers who want potent tools to optimize the performance of their teams or business.
- n Parents and teachers wanting to nurture and support human development.

Where will this training take you?

As you learn cutting-edge tools to create outstanding results for your clients and your business, you'll experience simultaneous quantum leaps in your own development. Meta-Coach Training gives you the power to transform any and every aspect of your life; to fulfill your wildest dreams and exceed previous expectations; to take the joyous and enriching path of excellence.

Master revolutionary coaching models

Your training is grounded in the Communication Model of Neuro-Linguistic Programming (NLP), and the Cognitive Sciences of Neuro-Semantics (NS). As you discover the Matrix Model you will have a systems model for knowing where you are with a client and for 'reading' a person's inner world. As a Change Agent, you will learn the Axes of Change Model for masterfully dancing with a client through the eight stages of change for a psychologically healthy person.

You will learn the Facilitation Model that informs you, as a professional coach, how to facilitate the highest and best in people. With the Self-Actualization Quadrants, you will discover how to detect and unleash a client's highest potentials. The Benchmarking Model will enable you to mark and measure progress so as to give evidence of the difference you make as a Coach with your Client.

This is unique in that you will learn the very structure of human development and be able to get inside the way people communicate, learn, and change so that you can coach for more complete and sustainable solutions. You'll use incredible techniques to bring about positive and profound life change.

"I've come from an executive and corporate background and the real value for me was they really talked about how executive coaching works in the workplace. For me, this was fantastic value. Further, Dr. Hall recommended that we pick a mentor from that group of people at Meta-Coaching so that we had someone in terms of support, I picked one who has been there for me."

Sylvia Fernandes, Executive Coach, NLP/NS Trainer

“The most unique distinguishing factor of Meta-Coaching is the 7 models that inform a Meta-Coach to know what to do, when to do it, how, with whom, and why. This makes Meta-Coaching systematic and prevents the Meta-Coach from treating the profession as a grab-bag of tricks. Now the Meta-Coach can truly facilitate the self-actualization of clients as they unleash their highest and best potentials.”

Dr. L. Michael Hall, Ph.D, Co-Founder

“With the NS models, the International Society, and the Meta-Coach Foundation, a Meta-Coach can coach with the confidence of knowing they are at the forefront of a revolution in coaching.”

Michelle Duval, Co-Founder, MCF

(Meta-Coach co-developer, 2003-2007)
